

CLIENT REQUEST AND AUTHORIZATION FOR EMAIL COMMUNICATIONS

Email communications are less secure than communications sent through the US mail or other “paper” delivery forms. There is no guarantee of privacy or security for protected health information (PHI) when information is sent via email over the internet, and information is subject to more potential breaches, e.g., due to lost or stolen devices, or other intentional acts. Nevertheless, you have the right to request that your health care provider(s) communicate with you via “alternative methods,” including email. For more information about your privacy rights, please see our Notice of Privacy Practices.

Please be advised that:

- Mono County Behavioral Health (MCBH) and its supporting clinicians will make all efforts to utilize protection processes that minimize an unauthorized disclosure of PHI, however, with this authorization of PHI release, client acknowledges and accepts the responsibility of unauthorized release of PHI and agrees to hold the County of Mono, its employees, officers and agents harmless should unauthorized disclosure or release of an email containing PHI occur.
- MCBH will take reasonable steps to limit what is communicated and will not include your date of birth, social security number or other information that could make you more vulnerable to ID theft.
- MCBH will take steps to limit what information is sent to the “minimum necessary” to communicate information to you about appointments, treatment, payment, medications or other matters; we cannot send an entire copy of your medical record via unencrypted email attachment.
- Your request will not be effective until you receive and respond appropriately to a “test email” message from MCBH.
- This request for and authorization of email communication will remain in effect until you notify us in writing that you wish to revoke it.
